It is often said that management is the activity that entails achieving one's objectives by utilizing the skills and talents of other individuals. In reality, management is in fact a team activity. Managers are the drivers of organizations, they provide the leadership, vision and ultimately the spirit which moves an organization forward. A good manager must be able to combine all the technical areas of management (Accounting, Finance, HR, IT, Marketing etc.) with strong people skills in order to ensure that the organization is able to achieve its objectives.

Top managers are always in demand and can find employment globally.

A career in Management can be both financially and personally rewarding. At SBSCS we offer programmes suited to both CXC/O'Level and CAPE/A'Level graduates.

A person interested in management is one who enjoys leadership roles, who is an effective communicator and motivator. Planning and problem solving skills are critical while the ability to multitask is of equal importance. A manager is also one who can see the larger picture, that is, considers not only what is good for the division or department, but also the branch, the company and the economy as a whole.
