

The BEng (Hons) Electrical and Electronic Engineering (Technology) programme is a one (1) year top up degree accredited by the University of Greenwich. It is tailored to prepare students for roles as incorporated engineers who are vital to the engineering industry. Incorporated engineers typically work in areas such as product development, system testing, manufacturing processes, implementation and maintenance of engineering solutions.

This programme is designed for students who have already completed the qualifications outlined in the entry requirements section.

Graduates of this programme will:

- Gain hands-on experience with modern engineering tools and systems.
- Acquire analytical and practical skills to address real-world engineering challenges.
- Understand the interplay between theory and application, enabling them to contribute meaningfully to engineering projects.
- Be prepared for roles in product development, system testing, manufacturing, and operations.

Note: Graduates of this programme can apply for Associate Membership from the Association of Professional Engineers of Trinidad and Tobago (APETT)

Mode of Study/Location

Blended learning via a combination of online and physical sessions at the Champs Fleurs campus. The next intake is Monday, 21 September, 2026.
